We highly recommend to ask for a larger sample before placing your order. Subject to product improvements and usual colour deviations, also possible between tiles and rolls. Please also consult our installation and cleaning and maintenance instructions. struction.

Traditional needled wall coverings consist of a mixture of coloured single fibers, which give the finished product the typical mottled look. The range of FINDEISEN also includes numerous plain colours in fine fibers optics. This results in particularly elegant surface textures with a partially felt like appearance and a soft feel.

FINDEISEN needled carpets are manufactured with utmost care and according to the latest state of art in Ettlingen/Germany. Minor optical irregularities in the appearance of the product (for example non matching fibers) as well as colour deviations can not always be avoided due to the production process and are not a defect.
